

CONTENTS

Editorial notes 5

waaseyaa'sin christine sy	my umbilical cord, map trail seasonal camp: a poetics of work 10 mother line, land 15 spotlight 16 dark brown line spots light skin 17
Margaret Christakos	Some of [] writing windows 18
James Treat	Unkindly of the Wolf 25 Climate of Those Days 27
Baruch ben Avraham	Di Shvartse Kats (Black Cat) 30
Keri Cheechoo	Leave 31 Systemic Squaw 32 Flagged 34 Feral 35 Agency 36
Erin O'Hara	a child's return 38
Lesley Belleau	LoveBlood: zaagi miskwi 39

CRITICAL WRITING

Fenn Stewart's essay "Here I Am Instead" focuses on the politics beneath the poetics in Liz Howard's Infinite Citizen of the Shaking Tent

57

REVIEW

waaseyaa'sin christine sy reviews Liz Howard's award-winning collection, Infinite Citizen of the Shaking Tent

61

Liz Howard	Thunderhouse Falls 65 As If Our Future Past Bore a Bad Algorithm 67
Neal Shannacappo	Miskó Ki'zis (Red Sun/apple) 70

INTERVIEW

Sarah Pinder and Mat Laporte both grew up in Wawa and/or Sault Ste. Marie, and now live in Toronto. In this conversation, they discuss living and writing in Toronto—the vibrant arts scene juxtaposed with the monotony of a desk job, and what it means to be an after midnight and before dawn poet.

71

Sarah Pinder	☐ 79
Mat Laporte	Pamphlet 85 Galleria 86
Vera Wabegijig	gishpin, eta 87 those egg salad sandwiches sure take up space in my memory bank 88 the strawberries grow well on the land 90 this dream 92
Molly Cross-Blanchard	White Brown Girl 94
M.D. Dunn	Prairie 95 The Island and other Islands 96
Vappu Kannas and Shannon Maguire	A Sorrow as Green as Unripped Lemons 98
	Contributors 106